

SOCIETY LEADER SURRENDERS ON MURDER CHARGE

Mrs. Morrow Goes to Cell, but Protests She Did Not Kill Husband.

CHICAGO, Jan. 29.—Mrs. Rene B. Morrow, society leader, accused of the murder of her husband, inventor Charles Morrow, was surrendered by her attorney, Charles Erbslein, at the sheriff's office today.

She was locked in a cell under the indictment returned Saturday afternoon, charging first degree murder.

Later Attorney Erbslein secured from Judge Cooper of the Superior Court a writ of habeas corpus for the production of Mrs. Morrow before the court. Erbslein declared Mrs. Morrow's constitutional rights had been violated in reopening the inquest after a verdict of suicide.

Before being taken to a cell in the county jail Mrs. Morrow, who was accompanied by three women friends and fellow club members, said:

"I am innocent and I think we will prove it at the trial. I could see no reason why I should spend any time in jail. There is no danger of my running away, so I decided not to report to the officers until today."

Mrs. Morrow was not depressed, nor did she weep when she was placed in a cell. She looked as stunning as though she were about to attend a club function.

"The men and women of Chicago who know me know that I am an innocent, persecuted woman," she said, "and I shall gladly spend my entire fortune to show that their trust has not been misplaced."

The surrender of Mrs. Morrow terminated an extraordinary search by deputy sheriffs. Officers broke into the Morrow home on Michigan avenue yesterday, believing that they might find a clue as to her whereabouts. They called upon scores of clubwomen who had expressed sympathy with the handsome young widow, but everywhere were greeted with indifference.

SAYS DOCTOR CHOKED HER.

Physician's Wife Gets Decree of Separation and Alimony.

Dr. William Wallace Taylor of No. 14 West One Hundred and twenty-first street, Manhattan, was the defendant in a suit for separation brought by his wife, Mrs. Elizabeth H. Taylor, before Justice Kelly in the Brooklyn Supreme Court today. Mrs. Taylor testified they were married in 1897 and that Dr. Taylor had become intoxicated on numerous occasions and choked her.

She left him in February, 1911, taking their ten-year-old daughter, Ruth, with her.

Dr. Taylor said, on the stand, he had quarreled with his wife, but denied he had choked or struck her. Justice Kelly awarded Mrs. Taylor a decree of separation with $20 a week alimony. She is living with her sister, Mrs. J. J. Niemman, at No. 108 Park place, Brooklyn.
